Stanley was in his bedroom reading an exciting book about animals. A loud cry came from outside. His brother Arthur was playing on the big climbing frame and had fallen off. Mrs Lambchop went running out and gave Arthur a huge cuddle. Stanley went back to reading about the difference between African and Asian elephants. He thought Arthur would be fine, he always makes a fuss when he hurts himself.

Stanley went downstairs because he wanted to watch his favourite cartoon. However, Mr Lambchop was busy watching TV, he was sitting on the blue comfy sofa. Stanley knew better than to ask his dad to change the channel, so he went to see what Arthur was doing. Arthur was running around the garden chasing a purple butterfly.
